Dear Children

I was wondering if you could help me out!

As you know we now have a lovely new library with wonderful books for you to read and share but there is something missing!

I really could do with some amazing book reviews and pictures of book characters to really make the library come alive and so I wondered if you could help me out over the holidays? Of course they would need to be in your best handwriting and the pictures would need to be absolutely beautiful!

If you think you have the time over the holidays I would be so grateful and I have attached a book review sheet for you to use if you want, or you can design your own if you would prefer.

Thank you for taking the time to help me out and have a great holiday – and keep reading!
