What an exciting week we had last week! The children were fascinated with the activities that we did last week. I hope they told you all about them.

The next two weeks we will be looking at the collection of books by Ian Whybrow all about a little boy called Harry and his bucketful of dinosaurs. Harry has lots of adventures and our literacy, numeracy and topic will be based around these adventures.

Literacy

We will write a speech bubble or a think bubble for a character from one of the Harry stories.

Maths

We will be solving lots of addition problems by using resources or counting on to find the answer.

Topic

We will make up silly dinosaur names using our own names such as 'Harryosaurus'. You could play this game at home with other members of your family. We will visit the library van on Thursday to exchange our school library books.

As the weather appears to have warmed up, can I please ask that you apply suncream to your child before they come to school. If you provide a named tube of suncream in your child's drawer then we will help them to reapply it when necessary. Could you also make sure that your child has a sunhat at school every day as we spend long periods of time outside in the sunshine whenever possible. Thank you.
